Chicago Foundation for Women's 34th Annual Luncheon

featuring keynote speaker

Elaine Welteroth

As Editor-in-Chief of Teen Vogue, Elaine Welteroth flipped the script on media for young women and girls, bringing a focus on social consciousness, civic engagement and activism to the magazine. During Elaine's tenure as Editor-in-Chief, Teen Vogue published stories on what it's like to be a Muslim girl during a Trump presidency, Mike Pence's record on reproductive rights and the Standing Rock protests, garnering widespread praise (and shock) for bringing sharp political analysis to teen girls.

Chicago Foundation for Women (CFW) was created to flip the script for women and girls: to recognize the power that women have as leaders and changemakers; to bring women's issues to the forefront; to increase resources for women and girls; and to empower women and girls to write the script for their own lives.

As the leading foundation focused on women and girls in the Chicago area, CFW brings together civic and business leaders, advocates and community members to work together to build a stronger region by investing in women and girls as catalysts.

The Annual Luncheon is CFW's signature fundraising event and plays a vital role in ensuring that CFW continues to lead, connect and support individuals and organizations supporting basic rights and equal opportunities for women and girls.

As we plan this year's 34th Annual Luncheon, we hope you will join us at this critical time for women and girls. Please join us as a sponsor of the Annual Luncheon, and support the women and girls of Chicago today. If you are unable to attend, we hope you will consider supporting our efforts as we continue the conversation and prepare for the work ahead.

To ensure your spot, reserve your table sponsorship today!
